Today
No More Submarines?
Trouble In Zion.
The Bigger, the Better.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE
[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

SECRETARY KELLOGG says the United States is "willing to sign a treaty with all powers of the world prohibiting the use of submarines entirely." That would be nice, but while awaiting the millennium, the United States should provide itself with the biggest fleet of submarines in the world. One submarine in war is more useful than a hundred battleships.
And an adequate fleet of submarines backed up by a fighting air fleet would give the United States the security to which it is entitled.

AFTER our statesmen have made
THIS country safe, they may appropriately begin worrying about other countries.
What America needs is the greatest fighting submarine fleet and air fleet and the highest possible development of deadly gases and explosives for war.

IT IS all very nice to agree that submarines and gases won't be used.
But if war began, they WOULD be used, and nations lacking them would be asked, "What are you going to do about it?" And find no adequate answer.

LORD BEAVERBROOK'S London
Express, hostile to the Zionist idea, but certainly not anti-Semitic, receives from Jerusalem disturbing news. Lack of financial support from America is said to upset the whole Zionist movement. "Industry is at a standstill, doing to unemployed stopped, and many facing starvation."

A NATION is a living thing, like a language or a human being. It is difficult to build living things artificially. Yet the business genius of the Jewish race might at least make a commercial success of the Palestine enterprise.

SIR WALTER GIBBONS has secretly bought 60 theaters in Great Britain and will build many more to fight
"The American movie invasion." That movie invasion sells American goods and ideas, and brings tens of millions to American workers and American companies.

OUR lawmakers should encourage the efficiency and large scale business of American movie concerns instead of seeking to interfere with that business.
The motto, today in industry and commerce is, "the bigger the better."
Let the little man work for the big man, giving faithful service for good pay, until he finds his chance to be come one of the big men.

THE Federal Reserve bank raising its discount rate, said "boo" to the little boys of Wall Street and frightened them for a moment last Friday.
But the week closed with a "brisk rally," and the poor bears were once more busy with their "urgent covering."
What goes up must come down, of

BRICKLAYERS
ASK MINE QUIZ

Building Trades O. K.
Request of Building Inquiry.

Request of the United Mine Workers of America for a congressional investigation into the strike of bituminous coal miners was endorsed by members of Local Union No. 10, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers, at a meeting in the Ingram building, Diamond, last night.

Support of the movement was pledged by the union members who said they have been "aroused by the sorrowful legacy of poverty and depression which the turmoil in the coal industry has bequeathed to the mining communities."

Officers of the union are Walter McClelland, president, and Thomas
McClintock, corresponding secretary.

Federal Investigation Looks.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Early investigation by the senate of the strike situation in the coal fields of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio was forecast today when it was learned that the various senate factions had reached an agreement on the Johnson resolution of inquiry.

A brief hearing on the Johnson proposal will be held Friday at which John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, will be heard.

X-RAY CURRENT KILLS PHYSICIAN

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Dr. Alfred
D. Bolton, 49, operator of Euclid hospital, was instantly killed at the hospital late Monday when high current from an X-ray machine passed through his body while he was sitting on a radiator, preparing to take an X-ray photograph.

Damaged.

EQUIPMENT HIT
Firemen Check Blaze
After Hour's Fight.

Fire, said to have been caused by molten metal, caused damages estimated at $5,000 to the Mackintosh-Hemphill foundry, at Midland, at 1:15 o'clock this morning.
Motors, cranes and other electric equipment in the open hearth department of the plant were damaged. The Midland fire department extinguished
the fire after fighting it for an hour.
The foundry building of steel and brick construction was not damaged.

SOLONS ADJOURN
UNTIL THURSDAY

Meeting of city council scheduled last night at which salary raising legislation for the municipal judge and service director and the pension system for police and firemen was to have been considered was of short duration.
Owing to the absence of Councilman
Harry Altman and Edward L. Green, the solons adjourned, following roll call until 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

MRS. CORA GEESEY
DIES IN SALEM

Funeral services for Mrs. Cora Gee-sey, 50 years old, of Pittsburgh, who died Sunday in the Salem clinic following an operation, were held yesterday afternoon in the Warrick funerial home, Columbiana, in charge of Rev. J. C. Strubel, pastor of the Columbiana Presbyterian church. The body was taken to Pittsburgh for cremation.
She leaves her husband and one son,
John, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
J. E. Wild of Rivers.

MISS EDITH FONE

grand opening of its new sales room and garage, Walnut street, last Saturday night.

JAIL THREE MEN;
RESCUE WOMAN

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Assisted by Cleveland police, detectives from Memphis, Tenn., raided a local hotel early today and captured a man alleged to be a $500,000 swindler, two of his alleged accomplices and rescued a young woman, whom, it was said, he had held captive to prevent her having him turned over to the authorities.
The alleged half-million dollar swindle or embezzlement was perpetrated against a Memphis brokerage firm, two months ago, it was said. According to the arresting officer, the chief prisoner, was secretary-treasurer of the concern at the time.

FIGHTS DEFIANT
STANDARD HEAD

Charges Witness' Refusal to Answer Senate Committee Quiz Due to "Trying to Protect Somebody."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Col.
Robert W. Stewart, millionaire Standard Oil official, was assured this afternoon of at least two more weeks of freedom from arrest by the United States senate for refusing to answer its questions bearing on the oil scandals.
Justice Jennings Bailey, in district supreme court, granted both sides additional time to file briefs and adjourned the hearing.

Scores Oil Scandals.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Characterizing the oil scandals as "one of the most slimy chapters in our history," George W. Wickersham, attorney general in the Taft cabinet, argued elo-quently today before Justice Bailey in district supreme court for the dissolution of the writ of habeas corpus by which Col. Robert W. Stewart, millionaire Standard Oil official, obtained release from the custody of the United States senate.

Wickersham charged that Stewart's refusal to answer questions put to him by the senate Teapot dome committee was due to the fact that Stewart
"was trying to protect somebody."
Wickersham addressed the court after Jesse C. Adkins counsel for Stewart, had argued for two hours to have the writ sustained.

Stewart in High Spirits.

Wickersham, employed by the senate to prosecute the contempt charges against Stewart, was introduced to the court by Peyton Gordon, United States attorney.
Stewart, flanked by his attorneys, sat back of the counsel table. He chatted with friends and appeared in high spirits.
The opening argument was made by Adkins, chief defense counsel.
Adkins charged that Stewart's rights had been "seriously invaded" by the senate's action in issuing a warrant for his arrest.

Denies Oil Deal Knowledge.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—George H.
Tabor, Jr., chairman of the board of the Sinclair Crude Oil company was as "ignorant" of the $50,000,000 Continental Trading company's oil deal "as a man in the street," he testified today at the new Teapot dome inquiry.
Looked upon as a "missing witness" for ten days and sought all over the country by process servers, Tabor proved a disappointment to the committee. He shed no light on the Continental deal and he knew nothing about its $3,080,000 Liberty bond fund.

OPPOSES EXAMS
FOR DRY AGENTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The federal dry regime is facing a critical situation throughout the nation unless the civil service commission abandons its "school teacher examinations" for dry agents, Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, told a house appropriations sub-committee, it was disclosed in hearing made public today.
Complete democratization of the service was pictured by Dr. Doran in testimony taken behind closed doors.

Lindbergh.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Flying a 30-horsepower plane, Bert Hinckler, British test pilot, left Croydon airfield today in an attempted solo flight to Australia. He hopes to complete the 18,000 miles in 18 days. His first stop was to be Rome.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 7.—The French good-will fliers, Costes and Lebrix, today postponed their hop-off for Washington on account of unfavorable weather. High winds and rain prevented the take-off this morning.

The Frenchmen were feted last night by Major Weaver, commandant at Maxwell field, following their arrival from New Orleans.

Col. Lindy "New Columbus."
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 7.—
With another admiring populace at his feet, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today was feted and banqueted and taken on sightseeing tours through this island.
Everywhere he went, America's smiling young ambassador of good-will was cheered and hailed as the "new Columbus."

As evidence of this feeling, Andre Chevalier, president of the Haitian Athletic club, presented Col. Lindergh with a round mahogany paper-weight. The top of the weight bore the arms of Haiti set in gold and on the bottom, set in iron from the anchor of "Christopher Columbus' flagship, the Santa Maria, was inscribed:
"Columbus—Lindbergh 1492-1928."

The round of official, social and other functions arranged for Col. Lindergh are to last until tomorrow noon at which time the young flyer will take off on his last hop of his present tour—bound for Havana.
At the Cuban capital, where a tremendous welcome has been prepared for him, Col. Lindbergh is expected to appear before the assembled delegates to the Pan-American conference.

RAIN DELAYS
LEVINE FLIGHT

"Columbia" Will Not Take Off Until Thursday.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Rain predicted for this afternoon will prevent the "Columbia" from taking off from Roosevelt field on its projected flight south, according to Wilmer Stultz, co-pilot with Charles A. Levine.
The plane is in readiness in the hangar at Roosevelt field, but rain would render the runway impassable for such a heavy take-off, Stultz said.
The start probably will not be made until Thursday morning, he said.
Mabel Boll, the "Queen of Diamonds," will fly with the two airmen as a passenger.

DONAHEY NAMES
FORESTRY GROUP

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—Governor
Vic Donahey today announced appointment of delegates from Ohio to the convention of the American Forestry association, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., February 17 and 18. These delegates include: Edmund Secrest, of the Ohio agricultural experiment station, Wooster; Berman G. Dawes, Columbus, formerly of Marietta; Mrs.
W. L. Milar, Akron, and Herbert R.
Menger and W. H. Johnson, Columbus newspaper men.

wires will be installed later in the week.
Court room No. 1, in which the trial will be held has been cleaned, and a new composition floor has been laid in the east half of the room.
Judge W. F. Jones will preside at the trial.
Press arrangements will be completed next Saturday. Special tables will be placed on the northside of Court room No. 1 for newspapermen. Judge Jones has indicated that when all seats in the court room are occupied, the Philadelphia Charges

Washington Slush Fund Committee Session is "Packed" With Wilson Workers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The recount of votes in the Smith-Vare senatorial contest was thrown into confusion today when Harry Kuenzel, Philadelphia county commissioner, and Vare's supervisor, bolted the session because he charged it was being "packed" with Wilson workers by the slush-fund committee.
Alkemon R. Clapp, Reed committee supervisor in the recount, entered the room with five assistants. Kuenzel declared they were all Wilson partisans and refused to stay.

STANDS PAT ON FLOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President
Coolidge sees no reason for material change in the administration's recommendation for flood control as embodied in the army engineers' plan. It was revealed at the White House today. The army plan would assess 20 per cent of the cost of flood prevention upon the states.

AL MAY NOT GO TO HOUSTON

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Governor Al Smith revealed today that he has not made up his mind whether he will attend the Democratic national convention at Houston, Texas, in June.
"My plans are very indefinite and I don't know just what I will do," the governor said.

ILLINOIS WOMAN
KILLS HUSBAND

EL DORADO, Ill., Feb. 7.—John

porting liquor. His auto was confiscated by police.

EX-DETECTIVE
GIVEN 8 YEARS
AT ATLANTA
FOR FORGERY

Former Wellsville Man is Sentenced at Cleveland.

HOLD-UP SUSPECT
Alleged Confederates Are Indicted at Akron.

Fred C. Herline, former Pennsylvania Railroad detective, who made his headquarters in Wellsville for several months before leaving the rail forces, yesterday was sentenced to eight years in the Atlanta penitentiary by the federal court in Cleveland, on a forgery charge.

One Suspect Escaped.
Herline was arrested in Cleveland for attempting to pass a forged government pay check and also was accused of being one of four men who held up and robbed J. D. Tew, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, and his wife, near their home in Hudson on January 21.

Two of the four men charged with engineering the hold-up, Steve Czukowski and Wadsworth Wisniewski, and who were also arrested in Cleveland, yesterday were indicted for highway robbery by the Summit county grand jury at Akron.

After Herline had been quizzed both on the check and robbery counts, he identified the garage in which the hold-up car was kept, according to Cleveland authorities. Two detectives "waylaid" Czukowski and Wisniewski as they drove up in a taxi to get the machine.
The fourth suspect in the robbery escaped.

CLEVELAND MAN
ADMITS MURDER

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Howard A.
Cornell, 23, taxi driver, early today confessed that he shot and killed his wife, Margaret, 22, during a drunken brawl in their West Side home here last Friday morning, according to Detective Lieutenant William Zitzman.
Cornell was arrested last night at a home of a sister.
Mrs. Cornell's body, with two bullet wounds in the head, was discovered late last Friday afternoon by Elbert Cornell, her brother-in-law.

BANKER FACES
FORGERY COUNT

LONDON, O., Feb. 7.—Ashton A.
Gregg, cashier of the Commercial bank of West Jefferson, is still faced with a charge of forgery, although a jury late yesterday found him not guilty of issuing a false report to the state banking department. During the trial Gregg admitted his report showed an overdraft of only $191 while it actually was $5,000. He said he made the false statement to prevent the bank's failure and not with intent to defraud.

JAILS REFORM,
LAWYER SAYS

Deputy Prosecutor
Urges Punishment for Criminals.

Effect of punishment upon crime was discussed by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Baunkecht, East Palestine, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. at noon today. About 45 members attended the meeting.
Special guests were Prosecutor R.
M. Brooks, this city and Robert Cottee, Youngstown Rotarian. Dr. Samuel Rich, specialist, presided.

President Martin Abbott announced that Secretary of State Clarence J.
Brown, Columbus, would be the speaker at next Tuesday's meeting. About a dozen county officials have been invited to attend the luncheon.
In his defense of punishment for those who "refuse to respect the rights for others, Baunkecht declared that only a small percentage of those who served sentences in penal institutions were "repeaters" and that many of these were "mental defectives."
He asserted that penitentiaries were model institutions, everything being done for the comfort of prisoners, inmates having every convenience with the exception of their liberty. He suggested that penal institutions be made less inviting.

Epic of the Air

CHAPTER XXVIII.

At New York we checked over the plane, engine and instruments, which required several short flights over the field.

When the plane was completely inspected and ready for the trans-Atlantic flight, there were dense fogs reported along the coast and over Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, in addition to a storm area over the North Atlantic.

On the morning of May 19th, a light rain was falling and the sky was overcast. Weather reports from land stations and ships along the great circle course were unfavorable and there was apparently no prospect of taking off for Paris for several days at least. In the morning I visited the Wright plant at Paterson, New Jersey and had planned to attend a theatre performance in New York that evening. But at about six o'clock I received a special report from the New York Weather Bureau. A high pressure area over the entire North Atlantic and low pressure over Nova Scotia and Newfoundland was receding. It was apparent that the prospects of the fog clearing up were as good as I might expect for some time to come. The North Atlantic should be clear with only local storms on the coast of Europe.

The moon had just passed full and the percentage of days with fog over Newfoundland and the Grand Banks was increasing so that there seemed to be no advantage in waiting longer. We went to Curtis Field as quickly as possible and made arrangements for the barograph to be sealed and installed, and for the plane to be serviced and checked.

We decided partially to fill the fuel tanks in the hangar before towing the ship on a truck to Roosevelt Field, which adjoins Curtis Field on the east, where the servicing would be completed.

I left the responsibility for conditioning the plane in the hands of the men on the field, while I went into the hotel for about two and one-half hours of rest, but at the hotel there were several more details which had to be completed, and I was unable to get any sleep that night.

I returned to the field before day-break on the morning of the 20th. A light rain was falling, which continued until almost dawn. Consequently we did not move the ship to Roosevelt Field until much later than we had planned, and the take-off was delayed from daybreak until nearly 8 o'clock.

At dawn the shower had passed, although the sky was overcast, and occasionally there would be some slight precipitation. The tail of the plane was lashed to a truck and escorted by a number of motorcycle police. The slow trip from Curtis to Roosevelt Field was begun.

The ship was placed at the extreme west end of the field heading along the east and west runway, and the final fueling commenced.

About 7:40 a. m. the motor was started and at 7:52 I took off on the flight for Paris.

The field was a little soft due to the rain during the night and the heavily loaded plane gathered speed very slowly. After passing the half-way mark, however, it was apparent that I would be able to clear the obstructions at the end. I passed over a tractor by about fifteen feet and a telephone line by about twenty, with a fair reserve of flying speed. I believe that the ship would have taken off from a hard field with at least five hundred pounds more weight.

I turned slightly to the right to avoid some high trees on a hill directly ahead, but by the time I had done a few hundred yards I had sufficient altitude to clear all obstructions and throttle the engine down to 1750 R. P. M.

I took up a compass course at once and soon reached Long Island Sound where the Curtis Oriole with its photographer, which had been escorting me, turned back.

The haze soon cleared and from Cape Cod through the southern half of Nova Scotia the weather and visibility were excellent. I was flying very low, sometimes as close as ten feet from the trees and water.

On the three hundred mile stretch of water between Cape Cod and Nova Scotia I passed within view of numerous fishing vessels. The northern part of Nova Scotia contained a number of storm areas and several times I flew through cloudbursts.

As I neared the northern coast, snow appeared in patches on the ground and far to the eastward the coastline was covered with fog.

For many miles between Nova Scotia and Newfoundland the ocean was covered with caked ice but as I approached the coast the ice disappeared entirely and I saw several ships in this area.

I had taken up a course for St. Johns, which is south of the great Circle from New York to Paris, so that there would be no question of the fact that I passed Newfoundland in case I was forced down in the North Atlantic.

I passed over numerous icebergs after leaving St. John's, but saw no ships except near the coast.

Darkness set in about 8:15 New York time and a thin, low fog formed, through which the white bergs showed up with surprising clearness. This fog became thicker and increased in height until, within two hours, I was just skimming the top of storm clouds at about ten thousand feet. Even at this altitude there was a thick haze, through which only the stars directly overhead could be seen.

There was no moon and it was very dark. The tops of some of the storm clouds were several thousand feet above me, and at one time, when I attempted to fly through one of the larger clouds, sleet started to collect on my plane and I was forced to turn around and get back into clear air immediately and then fly around any clouds which I could not get over.

The moon appeared on the horizon after about two hours of darkness; then the flying was much less complicated.

Dawn came at about 1 A. M., New York time, and the temperature had risen until there was practically no remaining danger of sleet.

Shortly after sunrise the clouds became more broken, although some of them were far above me, and it was often necessary to fly through them, navigating by instruments only.

As the sun became higher, holes appeared in the fog. Through one the open water was visible, and I dropped down until less than a hundred feet above the waves. There was a strong wind blowing from the northwest and the ocean was covered with white caps.

After a few miles of fairly clear weather the ceiling lowered to zero, and for nearly two hours I flew entirely blind through the fog at an altitude of about 1,500 feet. Then the fog raised and the water was visible again.

French Alps, Pyrenees and Eastern City Portrayed.

Fifty-six original pen drawings of Thornton Oakley, noted Philadelphia artist, are being shown in an exhibit which has been arranged in the show windows of the D. M. Ogilvie & Company annex, Washington street, through the courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce. This exhibit, which will continue for one week, is the ninth art show arranged by the chamber.

Oakley, a former pupil of Howard Pyle, is now in charge of the department of illustration of the Pennsylvania Museum School of Industrial Art, Philadelphia. Pen drawings included in his exhibit are records of summers spent in the Pyrenees and the high Alps of France and illustrate the travel book "Hill Towns of the Pyrenees" and "Cloud-Lands of France," written by Oakley's wife and fellow traveler, Mrs. Amy Oakley.

Thirty-nine of the sketches show scenes in the French Alps, while nine are pictures of the Pyrenees. Eight others present historic sites in Philadelphia.

Titles of the drawings shown are:

"Electricity!—

The Tireless Servant of America's Prosperity"

Says Lewis E. Pierson
President of the United States
Chamber of Commerce

"Many factors have contributed to the pre-eminent position of America's workers, but underlying everything else has been the fact that the American wage earner has had more horse power at his elbow than the worker of any other industrial nation."

WHILE the rest of the world wrestles with unrest and industrial strife, capital and labor in America work shoulder to shoulder on a basis that has resulted in higher standards of living than those enjoyed by any other people.

The most highly developed system of electric power equipment and facilities in the world has helped make this condition of affairs possible.

Because of the engineering skill and organizing ability which have gone into the expansion of America's power plants, there is available to American industry today more electrical energy than is produced in all the rest of the world combined.

Nearly a million miles of transmission and distribution lines supply American industry with more than thirty million horse power. Expressed in terms of man power, this is equivalent to the potential service of 40 helpers for every worker in this country.

Increasing, as it does, the production capacity of the worker by forty fold, this great industrial force has improved the financial status of American labor approximately fifty percent in the last fifteen years, while at the same time, materially decreasing the cost of manufactured articles.

In the light of such achievement, it is obvious that the interests of American business and American family life will be served best by the careful preservation of the principle of individual initiative by which such accomplishments have been made possible.

Street Car Peace

Indicative of the harmonious relations that exist between employer and employee in the East Liverpool district is the announcement of the renewal of the wage agreement between Division 52, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, and the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Company.

Although the old pact will not expire until May 1, and ordinarily negotiations are not undertaken before April, an earlier agreement was signed this year at the suggestion of General Manager C. A. Smith, of the traction company, who intends to spend the remainder of the winter in the South.

Way for renewal of the wage scale, which means amity in the operation of the allimportant street car system in East Liverpool, has been paved by the friendship between the operators and their employees since adjustment of differences growing out of the strike a few years ago. And playing no small part in this much desired situation was the action of the city council in sanctioning a seven-cent fare under the franchise given the trolley line owners.

Early settlement of the street railwaymen's scale is another harbinger of improvement in business conditions, although it is admitted that trolley car owners have suffered loss of patronage, due, in the main, to the competition offered by the automobile.

No community can progress without street car lines. And a trolley system's importance to a city merits a full measure of support.

Government Shipping

A big merchant marine is a great thing for a country, provided:

First, that it is a natural development of private enterprise;

Second, that it is self-supporting.

Otherwise a merchant marine may be not only wasteful, but dangerous. A big merchant fleet owned and operated by the government may be particularly dangerous.

This is not said from any prejudice against public ownership. There are times when public ownership is wise and necessary. There are fields where it is almost imperative. It cannot be given any blanket condemnation, on principle. In war, and sometimes in peace, governments have to grab and run things. Government ownership may be all right for projects like Muscle Shoals and Boulder dam. But the shipping business is different.

A merchant marine competes with other merchant marines for the world's carrying business. The bigger the fleets, the keener the competition.

That competition is bitter enough when the shipping remains in private hands. It may drag governments in to its rivalry even then. But if the government itself owns and operates the merchant fleet, the government is engaged in a direct struggle for business with the private and public fleets of other nations.

Thus to ordinary business considerations are added politics and patriotism. They make a mischievous and perilous mixture. The bigger the fleet and the hungrier for business, the more peril. To ordinary solicitation for trade may be added coercion, discriminatory laws, even naval force, in order to "get our share of the traffic" and keep the ships busy.

This is worth thinking about in view of the passage of the Jones bill by the senate, providing for the retention of the merchant shipping inherited from the war, and the building of large and costly additions, committing this country to a permanent policy of government shipping.

Building a great government merchant marine now may be as unwise as building a great navy of fighting ships.

Unsanctioned Falsehoods

An American who has long lived and worked in Egypt recently told an audience in this country that the religious code of the Mohammedans permits three sorts of lies. It is permissible to speak an untruth in anything pertaining to war, in talking to a woman, and in making a friend. Since business matters sometimes overlap these three departments, there is no rigid ban on falsehood in business.

The speaker found all this "woefully different from what it is in Christian lands." But is it?

The saying "All is fair in love and war" seems to take care of the first two items and to leave a loophole for fibbing even among Christians. There has been a vast improvement in business morality in the past 25 years, but some people maintain with considerable success that it has come about through the discovery that honesty is the most profitable policy. As for blunt truth or a courteous lie in making a friend, something might be said on both sides.

Perhaps the "woeful difference" is only that Mohammedans lie by code and Christians by inspiration.

College Men Imported

The president of the University of Toronto warns his fellow-countrymen that Canada must get busy if she wants to hold her university graduates.

The United States is luring away Canada's best college men, he says. In the last 10 years one Canadian graduate out of every nine has settled permanently across the border.

This will interest our own people from another angle. It gives a good sidelight on the American demand for educated men and women. We even feel obliged to import them. The prejudice that used to exist against them, in business and industrial life, exists no more. A college diploma nowadays is a recommendation to anyone, and there is genuine competition for the services of those who have shown good mental and moral stuff during their college careers.

Who says the motor industry has no regard for pedestrians? It has produced a pneumatic automobile bumper.

A criminal career seems to be fairly safe if you use good judgment in picking your alienists.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7.—Within the year the practicability of trans-Atlantic passenger transportation by air will be demonstrated if the expectations of the designers and builders of a new English airship are realized. The new air liner will have accommodations for 100 passengers and their baggage and the minimum fare will not exceed $400. The trip from New York to London will be made in less than 48 hours, possibly in 36 hours.

Ultimately, it is predicted, an airship will be designed and built that will carry many more passengers, make the voyage between New York and London at a speed of almost 100 miles an hour, and necessitate a fare of only $250.

It is claimed also that travel by air liners will not subject the passengers to the sea sickness or to the air sickness experienced by those who essay long trips by airplane. That remains to be proved, however.

The airship now in process of construction in England is known as the R-100. It is being built for service on the London-Egypt-India route. It is not considered sufficiently powerful to undertake the trans-Atlantic route on a regular schedule, carrying a full load of passengers both ways and under all weather conditions, but it will be given a try-out next September across the Atlantic in the hope that popular attention and popular approval will be centered on the dirigible as the next step in air transportation.

In order to make this demonstration a considerable portion of the possible pay load of the R-100 will be sacrificed to fuel requirements when the air liner makes the voyage from east to west.

It may not be possible for an airship to be given a black eye, but transportation by dirigible was administered a succession of black eyes, so far as the public was concerned, by events following shortly after the World war. The first was the destruction of the British airship R-38 over the Humber in 1921. Second came the disaster to the Roma in Virginia; third, the loss of the Dixmude in the Mediterranean; and fourth, the tragedy of the Shenandoah.

These accidents, each of which involved distressing fatalities, seem to have given the public the idea that the lighter-than-air vessel was less stable than the heavier-than-air.

Shortly after the war the Zeppelin company built a small commercial dirigible, christened the Bodensee, which was put into service on a regular schedule between Berlin and Friedrichshafen, whence the Los Angeles sailed for America in 1925. The Bodensee made 101 flights in the 103 days the service was maintained.

Nine years ago the British airship R-34 made a successful flight to America, refueling here and then making a successful return flight. In 1925, as has been stated, the dirigible that Germany built for the United States, the Los Angeles, made the air voyage from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst in approximately 80 hours.

The R-100 which is being constructed to pilot the way in long distance aerial passenger transportation will resemble the Los Angeles in many respects. It will be capable of 75 miles an hour in speed and will have a cruising radius of 4,000 miles with a normal fuel supply. Sacrificing passenger load to fuel will increase the cruising radius materially. The engine cars and the control car will be below the giant cigar-shaped body of the ship.

Within the body there will be the equivalent of three decks in an ocean liner. On the lower deck will be the quarters for the crew, with a mess deck and cabin. On the second level there will be a dining saloon seating 50 people and cabin accommodations for that number and two promenade decks. On the third level there will be a smoking room, staterooms for 50 more passengers, and two balconies.

British interests are already planning airship lines from London to Egypt, India, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and Canada, and they are said to be ready to join with American interests in establishing a service between London and New York that will be operated on a 40-hour schedule, with an airship leaving each terminus daily.

Q. How much clothing did the Red Cross gather and distribute in the Mississippi flood area? C. R.

A. Following the appeal of the American Red Cross on September 26, contributions of used clothing were made to such an extent that by December 31, 48 carloads were sent to the stricken area.

Q. Can buildings be made actually fireproof? H. L.

A. The word fireproof is probably a less appropriate term than fire resistive. Buildings can be constructed so that they can withstand a complete burning out of contents without any collapse of structural members. There will, of course, be damage to finish and trim. They can also be constructed to withstand exposures from fires in adjacent buildings without communicating fire to the inside of the building, although here again there may be damage to facing material and window glass and shutters. Fire resistive buildings greatly decrease the destructiveness of fires in providing less opportunities for fires to start, less likelihood of rapid spread, greater ease of extinguishment, and less hazard to neighboring structures.

Q. What does the term, certified milk, mean? S. G. J.

A. Certified milk is milk from inspected cattle, prepared under medical supervision, and under thoroughly sanitary conditions.

Q. Was alfalfa grown by the colonists? E. D. M.

A. The colonists made repeated efforts to establish the plant as a forage crop, the first recorded attempts being made in Georgia in 1736, but as its soil and cultural requirements were not well understood the early efforts resulted in failure.

Q. What is the total car and truck registration for 1927? M. T. F.

A. There were 20,282,293 cars and 2,943,898 trucks.

Turning Back the Pages of Memory

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7.—Within the year the practicability of trans-Atlantic passenger transportation by air will be demonstrated if the expectations of the designers and builders of a new English airship are realized. The new air liner will have accommodations for 100 passengers and their baggage and the minimum fare will not exceed $400. The trip from New York to London will be made in less than 48 hours, possibly in 36 hours.

Ultimately, it is predicted, an airship will be designed and built that will carry many more passengers, make the voyage between New York and London at a speed of almost 100 miles an hour, and necessitate a fare of only $250.

It is claimed also that travel by air liners will not subject the passengers to the sea sickness or to the air sickness experienced by those who essay long trips by airplane. That remains to be proved, however.

The airship now in process of construction in England is known as the R-100. It is being built for service on the London-Egypt-India route. It is not considered sufficiently powerful to undertake the trans-Atlantic route on a regular schedule, carrying a full load of passengers both ways and under all weather conditions, but it will be given a try-out next September across the Atlantic in the hope that popular attention and popular approval will be centered on the dirigible as the next step in air transportation.

In order to make this demonstration a considerable portion of the possible pay load of the R-100 will be sacrificed to fuel requirements when the air liner makes the voyage from east to west.

It may not be possible for an airship to be given a black eye, but transportation by dirigible was administered a succession of black eyes, so far as the public was concerned, by events following shortly after the World war. The first was the destruction of the British airship R-38 over the Humber in 1921. Second came the disaster to the Roma in Virginia; third, the loss of the Dixmude in the Mediterranean; and fourth, the tragedy of the Shenandoah.

These accidents, each of which involved distressing fatalities, seem to have given the public the idea that the lighter-than-air vessel was less stable than the heavier-than-air.

Shortly after the war the Zeppelin company built a small commercial dirigible, christened the Bodensee, which was put into service on a regular schedule between Berlin and Friedrichshafen, whence the Los Angeles sailed for America in 1925. The Bodensee made 101 flights in the 103 days the service was maintained.

Nine years ago the British airship R-34 made a successful flight to America, refueling here and then making a successful return flight. In 1925, as has been stated, the dirigible that Germany built for the United States, the Los Angeles, made the air voyage from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst in approximately 80 hours.

The R-100 which is being constructed to pilot the way in long distance aerial passenger transportation will resemble the Los Angeles in many respects. It will be capable of 75 miles an hour in speed and will have a cruising radius of 4,000 miles with a normal fuel supply. Sacrificing passenger load to fuel will increase the cruising radius materially. The engine cars and the control car will be below the giant cigar-shaped body of the ship.

Within the body there will be the equivalent of three decks in an ocean liner. On the lower deck will be the quarters for the crew, with a mess deck and cabin. On the second level there will be a dining saloon seating 50 people and cabin accommodations for that number and two promenade decks. On the third level there will be a smoking room, staterooms for 50 more passengers, and two balconies.

British interests are already planning airship lines from London to Egypt, India, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and Canada, and they are said to be ready to join with American interests in establishing a service between London and New York that will be operated on a 40-hour schedule, with an airship leaving each terminus daily.

Once Over

By J. J. Mundy.

How do you start the day? Supposing every person you meet in the morning should carry around the expression your face presents.

You would think this a world of grousches, wouldn't you? Before you leave home tomorrow morning look in the mirror.

Try to have the same lines in your face that you carry to work.

You don't like to look at persons who appear as you do.

But day after day you make no effort to change.

Why don't you look more happy and cheerful?

Of course, things are troubling you, but others are troubled too.

You have annoyances, but who has not?

Next time you look in the mirror try to get rid of that scowl and notice how much better you look without it.

When you have the surly expression ironed out you will feel better.

It is great to start the day in the right spirit.

The day is much happier and everything seems to go along in a more pleasing way.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Paddy's Market on Ninth Avenue is little known in limousine circles, but to middle class wage earners it is an El Dorado—a genuine marche des puces. The best in provisions are huckstered at astonishingly low prices. Saturday is bargain day.

Aproned housewives go there with capacious baskets to fill the family larder. Truck gardeners and their dumpy, apple-cheeked wives sit in the stalls to barter and haggie good-naturedly with the endless parade of shoppers.

The flare of the hanjo torches, the milling and jostling and raucous shouting gives the hectic glamour of a street fair. There is the old horse-radish grinder with his smoked glasses, the ruddy chuck steak man, the vendors of onions, carrots, cabbages and such.

Patrons arrive on street cars or afoot. There are women who carry money in handkerchief ends and men with sectional snap purses. Now and then is the cry, "Stop thief!" and the crowd pounces on some rat-faced pickpocket to hold him for the police.

In upstairs windows are leaning women, screaming imprecations at children in the street. Phonographs grind out wheezy, forgotten melodies. Roof tops bristle with radio aerials.

Flee escapes are criss-crossed with wet wash, and puling babies add to the din.

Then there are the "left over" marketers who arrive just before the close to scramble and bid for remnants. A pound of malaga grapes may sell for a nickel, a cabbage for two cents, a family steak for ten cents, for nothing is left behind.

The market place when the caravan departs, resembles a Kansas hamlet under the twister. It is an Irish district—hence the name Paddy's market. The bright touch of fashion is when frugal chorus girls go there to market, following the matinee. But they do not come in hordes.

A PARTY FOR DAD.

For the first time in recent records fathers as such are to receive special honor and attention. The miracle is scheduled for Princeton on the birthday of the Father of His Country. Feb. 22 has been chosen as Alumni day, but the under-graduate body has been authorized to invite every father who wants to attend, whether or not he is a Princeton man himself. Over 2,200 invitations have gone out to probably the most surprised group of expense meeters ever gathered together under one flag.

Those fathers who have gone to college, and especially those who went to Princeton, will not be so much impressed with the novelty of their experience as will the men who did not go to college at all but who have been intent upon affording a college education for their sons. Most of them will return home with added enthusiasm for the idea. For Princeton is a beautiful place; situated in the country far from any city and full of fine old buildings and lawns, it seems to embody the old academic traditions and is calculated to make any hard working father conclude that he is getting his money's worth. Perhaps the happiest visitors will be those southerners who, as a result of the poverty caused by the war between the states, broke the chain of Princeton representation in their families which began in the days of Dr. Witherspoon.

This year, according to the program, the fathers are to have the center of the stage. But it is hardly probable that mothers will submit to the discrimination very long and next year may see them included. In that case father will resume his immemorial practice of staying at home and sending the family on the joy ride.—New York Times.

Who says the motor industry has no regard for pedestrians? It has produced a pneumatic automobile bumper.—Delaware Gazette.

There is nothing surprising about this. To permit your automobile to run into a deep cut in the pavement causes the tire to strike bottom with a bang. No wonder you have a blow-out.

Certainly, you have no right to treat your body in a similar way. To give in to an outburst of temper is just as likely to blow out a blood vessel, with bleeding into the brain, or elsewhere. A fit of anger may end life.

Many a case of ruptured blood vessel in the eye comes from sudden anger.

Answers to Health Queries.

M. E. Q.—What causes me to have difficulty in keeping my balance? Things appear before my eyes until I can hardly see.

A.—This condition is often caused by biliousness. Your diet is probably at fault. Keeping the intestinal tract clear is very essential. For further information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. E. Q.—What treatment do you advise for gall-bladder catarrh?

A.—Diet is of great importance. For further particulars send self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

R. O. N. Q.—What should a woman of thirty-five feet three inches tall weigh? What will reduce flabby hips and excess fat around the abdomen?

A.—She should weigh about 135 pounds. Careful attention to the starches and taking plenty of outdoor exercises should bring about results. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

CHURCH OF CHRIST IS CROWDED FOR RUSSIAN CHOIR CONCERT

Program of Sacred, Classical and Folk Songs is Given Under Civic Music Society Auspices.

Every seat in the spacious auditorium of the First Church of Christ was filled last night when the Russian Symphonic Choir of 22 voices presented a program of sacred, classical and folk songs. It was the second attraction of the Civic Music association's 1927-28 program.

The entire concert abounded in thrills. The "Credo," with its religious intensity was one. "The Lord Have Mercy," with its remarkable pianissimo, was another. "The Song of the Volga Boatmen," in which members of the choir appeared in a combination of the old Russian dress of the nobles and the peasantry of Ukraine, was a third.

Many numbers were rendered by humming in which the fine gradations of tone and accent resembled a string orchestra. The choir was well balanced and the individual members were gifted and trained singers far above the ordinary in their ability to reveal the composer's ideas.

The choir was directed by Basile Klatchich, who is now making his fourth tour of the United States.

Hostess to Needlework Society.

The Young Ladies Needlework society of St. John's Lutheran church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Warren Riley, Florida avenue, Chester, last night. During the business session Misses Emma Bradwell and Pearl Brunswick and Mrs. George Woessner were enrolled.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Enoch Riley. In two weeks the society will meet with Mrs. John Howell in Globe street.

Missionary Society Gives Program.

Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church met last evening in the social room of the church with Mrs. Mark Barlow presiding. Mrs. Hanna Kinney conducted the devotionals, and Mrs. Hattie Wilson had charge of the program. A reading was given by Mrs. John McNutt on "The Treasure Chest." Mrs. Alfred Harrison's reading was "Coin of the Realm." Mrs. Arthur Savage discussed the third chapter of the study book, after which

The Toughest Old Cough Can Now be Stopped

Obstinate, lingering, coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out. Those are the breed of coughs that prove that common sweet cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent, contrary, die hard cough is to take a teaspoonful of Bronchiline Emulsion four times a day.

This REAL cough medicine is made to stop the old timers—the tough ones—the obstinate ones—and it does it without any loss of time.

And remember, there is no chloroform—no sugar—no dope in this grand cough medicine. It is a prescription for stubborn coughs and that's the kind it speedily conquers.

For ordinary coughs—two doses is usually enough. Carnahan's Drug Stores will gladly supply you so will dealers everywhere.

COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT SESSION

Council met in regular session last night in the municipal building. The meeting was given over to the transaction of routine business and reports of officers.

Plans for the election to be held on March 8 will be completed at the next meeting.

9-MONTH TERM FOR SCHOOLS

Mayhew Announces Plans to Offset Fund Loss.

Hancock county public schools will be open for a nine month term, it was announced today by J. L. Mayhew, president of the county court.

This action was taken at a meeting yesterday in New Cumberland, attended by officials of the various districts, when methods of financing were arranged to offset losses sustained by the failure of the New Cumberland bank.

Among those that attended the meeting were H. O. Miller, county superintendent; W. D. Johnston, Weirton and Fred Porter and F. B. Lawrence, Grant district.

BIBLE SEARCHERS MEET THURSDAY

Members of the Bible Searchers class of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet at 7:30 Thursday night in the tabernacle. Mrs. James Pipes, president, will be in charge. Mrs. Harvey Duck and Mrs. A. L. Hany will be in charge of the program.

Social committee is composed of Mrs. Ethel Starr, Mrs. O. L. Zirkle, Mrs. C. T. Allison, Mrs. Edward Hoff and Mrs. Jesse Hall.

DISTRICT ROADS IN GOOD CONDITION

The river, National and Victory roads in the Panhandle are in good shape according to the mid-winter report issued on Saturday from the West Virginia state road commission at Charleston. All paved and virtually all gravel roads are reported as in good passable condition.

As is usual at this season, it is stated, graded and unimproved routes are kept under snow surveillance, and snow is being removed promptly whenever necessary.

Sixty-five miles of route No. 2 is open from Chester to a point three miles south of Moundsville. The commission will finish the thoroughfare to New Martinsville in the spring.

A partial report says the route is open from Ohio line at Chester, via New Cumberland, Wellsburg, Wheeling, Moundsville, New Martinsville, Sistersville, St. Mary's, Parkersburg, Ripley, Charleston and Madison to Logan.

Bank Bonds Approved. Bonds of the Chester, Holliday's

Cove and Weirton National banks, depositories of county funds, were approved yesterday by the county court at New Cumberland.

Class Members to Meet. Members of the Up Streamer class of the First Presbyterian church will be entertained Thursday night in the home of Miss Zelma Craig, Indiana avenue.

Bible Class Meeting. Women's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church will meet Thursday night in the home of Mrs. John plankinton, Carolina avenue. Regular program will be carried out.

Work on City Building. Force of workmen are engaged in plastering the first floor of the new city hall and fire station near the corner of Fourth street and Carolina avenue. The building will probably be ready for occupancy within the next two months.

That there are at least 16,837 different ways of making a living, has been shown by British government reports.

Rabbit skins are to be converted into fur in a factory to be erected in New Zealand, where the jumpers are a pest.

MRS. LAURA M. HOARD, 58, PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN FAKE CHECK COUNT

Court Appoints Attorney Walter W. Beck to Defend Evans City Woman.

Mrs. Laura M. Hoard, aged 58 years, residing near Evans City, Pa., and against whom three indictments were returned by the January grand jury for uttering and publishing false instruments, entered pleas of not guilty to each charge when arraigned before Judge W. F. Lones Monday afternoon. She was held for court under $1,000 bond on each count.

The court appointed Attorney Walter W. Beck of Lisbon to defend Mrs. Hoard. The woman presented a certificate from a Pittsburgh physician, to prove why she had not appeared previously.

Several small checks had been drawn on the First National bank of Salem, the largest being for $22.

Mrs. Hoard is the mother of two small children and lives with her husband on a farm near Evans City.

COURT SUSPENDS WORKHOUSE TERM

A suspended sentence of six months in the Canton workhouse has been given Loraine Coleman of East Liverpool by Judge Lodge Riddle on a charge of non support, filed by his wife, Myrtle Coleman. Mrs. Coleman last week filed a petition in divorce against her husband in common pleas court.

Coleman agreed to pay his wife $15 monthly for the support of children. Coleman proved to the court that he had paid her $145, for which he held receipts.

Invited to Rotary Luncheon. County commissioners with other county officials have received invitations from members of the East Liverpool Rotary club to be guests of the club at the noon luncheon next Tuesday, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown will speak at this meeting.

Java's Baloeng-Rambipoodji line of the State railways, is to be rebuilt to give quicker transportation to sugar and coffee shippers.

ASK RECEIVER FOR CRUBAUGH

Petition Follows Sale of Lisbon Motor Agency.

The appointment of a receiver and an injunction has been sought in petitions filed in common pleas court for Harry Crubaugh, doing business under the name of the Crubaugh Chevrolet Co., and the Peoples State Bank of Lisbon in two petitions filed in common pleas court.

G. C. Rauch recently sold the business for Crubaugh to John Konecheck of Avella, Pa., for $5,500, and was to receive a commission of ten percent on the deal.

Konecheck paid in several sums amounting to $1,300 to Crubaugh, and the agreement in the deal were placed in the hands of the Peoples State bank of Lisbon in escrow, as the balance of the money was to be paid Feb. 12. The bank has been enjoined from distributing any of this fund.

The Salem Chattel Mortgage Co. has also filed a petition against Crubaugh, claiming $723.96 due.

Ten or more other judgments have been obtained in local courts against Crubaugh on notes which he endorsed. Two orders of execution on prior judgments obtained have also been issued, with service also being had on the Peoples State bank as trustee.

One case against Crubaugh filed in Common pleas court last week has been settled, and the adjustment of this cause also resulted in another action filed against him last Friday having been withdrawn.

Marriage Licenses. A marriage license has been issued to James Keiter of Wellsville, and Miss Bessie Willard of Yellow Creek township and formerly residing at Irondale. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willard.

Manuel E. Cobb of Salem, and Lillie S. Chappell, also residing at Salem have obtained a marriage license.

Everything, from handling baggage to cooking and cleaning, will be done by electricity on a liner now being built in Belfast, Ireland.

Chiefs of the army and navy of Great Britain marry later in life than politicians and lawyers, according to figures just given out.

Would Blind Her

Mrs. Harriet C. McArdle of West Somerville, Mass., was told over the phone that if she didn't get out of town her little daughter, Betty (above) would be blinded. Two other families received similar warnings.

REV. S. F. FISHER IS DEAD AT KANSAS CITY

Former E. Liverpool Man 50 Years in Ministry. 83 YEARS OLD Son of Late John and Elizabeth Hill Fisher.

Rev. Sanford F. Fisher, D. D., 83, formerly of this city, and an uncle of Sanford Fisher, a namesake, is dead at his home in Kansas City today. He was a son of the late John and Elizabeth Hill Fisher, and was born on a farm which is now the site of Fisher Park, Lincoln highway. Just beyond Pleasant Heights. He was the last surviving member of a family of seven boys and four girls. Mr. Fisher was a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college and Western Theological seminary. He was in the ministry for more than 50 years, filling charges west of the Mississippi river. He retired a few years ago and since then has made his home in Kansas City. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son, Rev. Drury H. Fisher, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Manhattan, Kansas. Sanford Fisher, of this city, left last night for Kansas City to attend the funeral services.

TIRE WORKER HURT IN CRASH

Auto Hangs Over Side of Bridge After Accident.

Norman Hamilton, 25, rubber tire worker, 942 Huston avenue, was recovering today from injuries suffered at 2 o'clock Sunday morning when a roadster automobile, owned by Abraham Manlovitz, Third street, which he was driving, crashed into a steel girder on the Chester-East Liverpool bridge. Hamilton, who had taken friends to their home in Chester, was returning to East Liverpool when the accident occurred. Street car company officials said that when Hamilton reached into his pocket for his bridge pass he lost control of the machine. The car hung suspended over the side of the bridge while Hamilton cut by broken glass, crawled out. One tire and rim fell into the river. Three of the heavy supporters on the upper side of the bridge were damaged.

BANK BANDITS ELUDE POLICE

Ohio Hold-up Men Escape Toward Canada.

WASHINGTON C. H., Feb. 7.—Attaches of the Peoples' and Drivers' bank, here, were checking their records today to determine the amount stolen from that institution by five armed bandits yesterday. Officials of the bank reported this morning that their estimate of approximately $200,000 in cash and negotiable bonds would doubtless be found correct. About $25,000 of this sum was in currency. COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—That the five men who early yesterday robbed the Peoples' and Drivers' bank of Washington C. H. of $200,000 in cash and negotiable bonds, escaped toward Canada, seemed probable here today, when a report was received by Columbus police from Marion. A filling station attendant at Marion reported that a group of men drove to his station yesterday and after purchasing gasoline tendered a $100 bill in payment. They drove north, he said.

TODAY

(Continued from Page One). course, but you never can be quite sure how HIGH it is going, or how far down it will come. Better not sell short, yet. H. G. SELFRIDGE, JR., son of an able Chicago father, says that employment in England is caused by the "dole" paid by Britain to the unemployed. Men being naturally lazy, if you give them a "dole" to prevent starvation, they will "loaf indefinitely." That's the theory. THE "dole" has disadvantages, but British statesmen knew that a million men on the dole even "loafing" are safer citizens than a million men starving, ready with a mainspring for revolution, and an argument for bolshevism. DR. ROBERT EISLER, of Vienna, in an old Slavonic translation of Josephus' history, discovers a paragraph, proving, historically, the existence of Christ. The paragraph tells how Judea refused to obey orders to worship statues of the Roman emperor Caligula, and mentions "the lawless ones of our (the Jewish) nation, who had leaned toward Jesus, the Son of Pandera, the Nazarean." Lack of "historical confirmation" of the existence of Christ would disturb only those that would ask for proof of the sun's existence at bright noonday.

U. S. SCIENTISTS SUCCEED IN CURING MICE OF CANCER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—After long years of study and experimentation, scientists of the United States Public Health service have succeeded in curing mice of cancer. This startling information was divulged at a secret session of a house appropriations sub-committee by Dr. A. M. Stimson of the surgeon-general's staff, it was disclosed with publication on the hearings. Though concealing with difficulty his enthusiasm over the initial success of government physicians in the long quest, Dr. Stimson warned the committee that the experiments are far from complete. The method used—an oscillating electric current of very high frequency—has never before been followed by recognized scientists in the world-wide search for a cancer cure, he said. A quiet, unassuming staff member—Dr. Joseph Schereschewsky—is given full credit for the remarkable experiments.

ABANDON SEARCH FOR FISHERMEN

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Search for ten fishermen reported lost on an ice floe in Lake Erie was definitely abandoned today when thorough investigation failed to show that there had actually been any men on the floe, or that if there had been any, they had been carried out into the lake. A check-up along the shore from Port Colborne to Port Erie showed no men reported missing, and on the United States shore there were none unaccounted for. Seven airplanes were used in the search as well as small boats commanded by coast guard officers. Officials said that in their opinion those who reported the ten men carried away on the floe had been confused by shadows.

POLICEMAN SLAIN IN GUN BATTLE

PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb. 7.—Paul Frederick, 27, traffic policeman, is dead here today and two Negroes are under arrest in connection with his death, following a gun battle last night.

Banker Goes to Penitentiary. COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 7.—Officials of the Ohio State penitentiary today were interviewing C. C. Cross, former cashier of the defunct Raymond Deposit bank, preparatory to assigning him to duties during his four year sentence. Cross arrived at the penitentiary late yesterday. He had pleaded guilty to embezzling $17,000 from the bank, during his six years as cashier. The bank is a branch of the Union Banking company of Marysville.

1,000 FLEE AS SCHOOL BURNS

Flames Discovered on Roof of Boston Building.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Flames were discovered today on the roof of the Saints Peter and Paul Parochial school on Broadway between "A" street and Dorchester avenue. A thousand boys and girls were attending their classes at the time. All escaped in safety. The school, in charge of the Sisters of Notre Dame, is across the street from Saints Peter and Paul Catholic church, one of the four South Boston churches burned by a firebug within the past two days.

O. S. U. STUDENTS TO AID MINERS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—Organization of a miners relief committee at Ohio State university here, was announced today. A. Vrom Landy, Columbus, was elected president to the body. David Rein, Cleveland, was chosen treasurer, and Harold Potts, Murray City, secretary. The organization is to be known as the Students' Miners' Relief committee. The proceeds are to be used to care for the children of Ohio unemployed miners.

SEAT SEVEN IN FINDLAY TRIAL

FINDLAY, Ohio, Feb. 7.—Two women and five men were seated in the jury box at noon today to hear the first degree murder trial of Eugene Watson, Detroit, charged with complicity in the killing of Peter Grant, department store watchman. Watson's alleged accomplice, John Leslie, was found guilty of first degree murder last week, and was sentenced to life imprisonment when the jury recommended mercy.

ICE FLOES AGAIN GRIP CARFERRY

CONNEAUT, O., Feb. 7.—The car-ferry Maitland today was again attempting to free herself from Lake Erie ice floes. The vessel, after being released Sunday from a giant floe in which she had been imprisoned ten days, became locked in ice again last night while attempting to make her way to Ashtabula Harbor. The Maitland carries a crew of 40. Son Sentenced, Father Takes Poison. NEWCOMERTOWN, O., Feb. 7.—Isaac Antrim, 60, is dead here today. He is said to have swallowed poison, yesterday, after his son, Lorin, was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for robbery. Plan to Cremate Novelist's Body. DOVER, O., Feb. 7.—Arrangements were completed today for sending the body of Madame Elizabeth Des Jeans, 56, novelist, to Cleveland for cremation. She committed suicide Sunday, according to Tuscarawas county authorities.

SCIENCE USED TO SAVE LIFE OF SIAMESE TWIN

One Baby Lives After Her Sister Dies. JOINED TOGETHER Surgeon Finds no Heart Action in Second Body.

OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 7.—How modern surgical science was used on newly-born Siamese twins to save the life of one after the other had been born dead, was revealed here today. On Feb. 1, in a little farmhouse near Marseilles, Ill., twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keller. Dr. Paul R. Clark, La Salle county physician, assisted at the birth. The infants were joined together at the abdomen in such manner that the same blood stream coursed through both bodies. Otherwise they appeared perfectly normal. But only one of them cried. Efforts to start respiration in the second little body failed. Then Dr. Clark detected that there was no heart action in the second little body, that it was in fact dead, but that the heart of the living child was still pumping blood through both bodies. Realizing that the child's heart could not stand this strain long, he decided on an operation to separate the two little bodies and hurried to a hospital at Ottawa. There the delicate operation proved successful. The child is still living and is apparently hale and hearty.

Samaritans to Elect Officers. Meeting of Mekka Sanctorium No. 231, Ancient Mystical Order of Samaritans, in the Old Fellows' temple at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow night will be featured by the nomination of officers. An airplane built in Newfoundland for use in "spotting" seals has a heating apparatus so that the pilot does not need gloves when flying.

COMING STARS of the MOVIES

M ANY ARE CALLED but few are chosen. That old rule still holds good, and it never has been better exemplified than in the case of Thelma Todd. This blonde Massachusetts beauty was one of the many aspirants who attended the now famous "movie school" on Long Island. And, singularly enough, she's the only one of the battalion who has stuck, and who seems headed for stardom. Thelma is fortunate in that her golden loveliness screens exceedingly well. Then, too, she has had the "breaks." She has managed to win a leading woman's role in several important films. Not to overlook the fact that she is rapidly acquiring a neat little acting technique all her own. And you can't beat that combination of ability, pulchritude and luck. 20-VOICE CHOIR AT EAST END REVIVAL MEET

Rev. J. A. MacDonald, Youngstown, in U. P. Pulpit.

UNION SERVICES

Fifth Week of Special Evangelistic Campaign.

Rev. James A. MacDonald, pastor of the First Unit D Presbyterian church, Youngstown, occupied the pulpit of the Second United Presbyterian church last night, marking the opening of the fifth week of the East End union revival campaign. His subject was "The apism of the Holy Spirit and With Fire." A choir of 20 voices, directed by Mrs. John Robbins, led the singing. A quartet rendered the invitation song, "Though Your Sins Be As Scarlet They Shall Be As White as Snow," at the conclusion of the sermon. Rev. Frederic A. Dean, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, led in prayer, while prayer meeting announcements were made by Rev. George C. Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Tonight's service will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. MacDonald preaching the sermon. He said in part last night: "Holiness plus the power and the life of God is the need of the church today. The word 'fire' in the text meant just simply the life of God burning and flaming in the Christian heart and in the Christian church. There is only one church just as truly as there is only one heart. In heaven there will be Baptists, but they will not be there because they are Baptists. There will be Presbyterians but it will not be because they are Presbyterians. It will be because they are Christians with the 'fire' which is the fire that a comprises the true holiness which come from God. 'We needed flaming churches and the place where the fire must begin is in the pulpit. We need pulpits on fire. Then the next thing we need is church officers on fire.' 'Fire cleanses and purges and purifies. It fuses together. God puts us in the fusing crucible like old junk, wheels and bolts and nuts, and when the fire has done its perfect work you cannot tell whether the iron had been a wheel or a nut or a bolt. When the iron comes out of the mould it is a new creation.'"

ALIENISTS CLASH IN HICKMAN CASE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 7.—Recovered from a drowsy day of bewildering medical terms, the jury of four women and eight men, sitting in judgment on William Edward Hickman, today faced the prospect of witnessing a protracted and wordy battle of alienists over the sanity of the confessed kidnaper-killer of 12-year-old Marion Parker. The opening day of the third week of Hickman's trial for a crime which he executed in three days brought somnolence to a drowsy court room. Beyond his desk and out of view of Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, the usually alert clerk shielded his eyes and pretended to be reading a book. Once, while an alienist talked learnedly about "paseveration" and "ideation" the weary clerk went to sleep.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEKS PEACE, KING DECLARES

Refers to Chinese Situation in Speech to Parliament.

CITES U. S. TREATY

Encourages Bill to Reduce Vote Age of Women.

BY HARRY R. FLORY. LONDON, Feb. 7.—Peace between Great Britain and the world with especial reference to the proposed arbitration treaty with the United States, was stressed by King George today in his speech from the throne opening parliament. The king commented upon the definite improvement in conditions in China, and an encouraging note was sounded for the sponsoring of the "dapper vote bill" which would reduce the vote age of women from 30 to 21 years without any property qualifications. Commenting upon the draft of the proposed arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States, submitted by Washington on December 29, King George said: "It is being carefully and sympathetically studied by my government in Britain and will be considered in communication with my governments in the dominions of the empire. 'It is the constant effort of my government to cooperate with the League of Nations to secure the settlement of international differences and promote the cause of peace.' Queen Mary III. Commenting upon the situation in China, the king said: "Our position in China has so far improved as to permit large reductions in the naval and military forces sent to the Far East, but the situation caused by internal disturbances and civil wars with the consequent insecurity of life and property, both Chinese and foreign, still gives cause for anxiety." Queen Mary was prevented by a slight cold from attending the opening of parliament. She watched the departure of the king's procession from a window of Buckingham palace with Princess Elizabeth by her side.

URGE U. S. TO PAY FLOOD BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Four Republican members of the house flood control committee, called into conference by President Coolidge today, told the executive that they believed the existing law requiring benefited communities to pay one third of the cost of flood control works, should not be waived, in connection with Mississippi flood control. They were Representatives Fear of Wisconsin, Selvig of Minnesota, Kopp of Iowa and Davenport of New York. They told the president the flood prevention work should be directed by a small commission.

MARION JOURNAL QUILTS AS DAILY

MARION, O., Feb. 7.—Suspension of the Marion Journal after operating three weeks as a daily, was on record here today, following a receivership action brought late yesterday by three stockholders. Lack of sufficient capital with which to carry on, is given as the cause for the action. The Journal's suspension leaves the Marion field to the Marion Star, a Brush-Moore newspaper, formerly owned by the late President Harding. The Journal began publication as a weekly last August, entered the semi-weekly field, then the tri-weekly, and eventually the daily field.

ITALY'S FAMOUS POET VERY ILL

GARDONE, Italy, Feb. 7.—Gabriel D'Annunzio, Italy's famous soldier-poet, took a turn for the worse today and was ordered to take a complete rest. His temperature today was over 100. Several days ago D'Annunzio was taken ill at his villa here with an attack of influenza. Feared Poverty, Killed Baby. CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Because she "loved him too much to let him face the poverty and struggles that I've been through," Mrs. Eleanor Presley, 32, late Monday afternoon strangled her three-week-old son, Donald Lawrence, according to police here today. She was charged with murder.

EAGLES' CHIEF HERE TONIGHT

John Abel, Marion, state president of the Eagles, will speak in the Broadway lodge temple at 8 o'clock tonight. He will discuss sick, death and other benefits of the organization.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The motor stocks replaced the independent steels as the leaders in the sharp advance in industrial stock prices in the early trading today. Transactions in General Motors in the first half-hour aggregated more than 90,000 shares, several large blocks passing over at more than 2 points above Monday's final price. Studebaker reached a new high at 65 on its first sale of 13,000 shares. Demand for General Motors was largely attributed to the Duponts, already the largest single stock holding group in that enterprise. Recapitalization of Dupont, with a substantial stock dividend to present stock holders, is a probability for the near future. With anticipated earnings of approximately $9 a share this year, Studebaker has long been considered "behind the market," and energetic pool work apparently designed to place it in its proper position. Covering of shorts was doubtless a factor in the aggressive buying of these and other motor shares. The steel stocks did not meet with as much support as in the previous session, though Bethlehem and Republic advanced about a point and U. S. Steel sold a point higher. The railroad stocks, shorn of the glamor of prospective mergers and consolidations—many of which have been hanging fire two or three years, continued to settle downward, with new losses of 1 to 3 points in active shares. Chicago Grain. CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Grains opened steady to a shade higher today; wheat was 1/4 to 1/2c higher. Corn 1/4 to 1/2c higher and oats unchanged. Opening quotations: Wheat—March $1.28 1/2 to 1/2; May $1.28 1/2 to $1.29; July $1.26 1/2 to $1.27. Corn—March 89 to 1/2c; May 91 1/2 to 1/2c; July 93c. Oats—March 54 1/2c; May 55 1/2 to 1/2c July none. Pittsburgh Livestock. HOOVER URGED TO ENTER OHIO G. O. P. FIGHT

Thad H. Brown and Others Adopt Resolution.

PETITIONS READY

Ask Cabinet Member to Declare His Candidacy.

By George R. Holmes. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Herbert Hoover's presidential candidacy, which has been flowing along powerfully under the political surface for months, may be shoved boldly into the open within the next two weeks. The tactics of his supporters in Ohio have brought the cabinet candidate to a fork in the stream. In one direction lies a spirited and probably savage fight in the primary against Senator Frank B. Willis, Ohio's favorite son. In the other direction there is more peace, but little likelihood that any appreciable number of Ohio's 51 delegates ever will be found under the Hoover banner at Kansas City next June.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover today had under consideration a resolution, signed by more than three score Ohio Republicans, including well-known G. O. P. leaders of the Buckeye state, urging him to declare himself a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and to enter the campaign which precedes the Ohio presidential preference primaries to be held on April 25.

The resolution, which was introduced and signed at a conference of Hoover supporters here late yesterday, was promptly telegraphed to Hoover at Washington, D. C. Attorney Thad H. Brown, Columbus, former secretary of state, presided at the conference. The resolution was introduced by Attorney Herbert Mills, Dayton, former assistant attorney general of Ohio. Unanimously adopted, the resolution was signed by Dr. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, president emeritus of Ohio State university; Senator Chester C. Bolton, Cleveland, Republican leader in the Ohio senate; Representative Martin S. Dodd, Toledo, G. O. P. leader in the Ohio house of representatives; Thad H. Brown and others. The conferees instructed Attorney Brown to appoint an executive committee, consisting of from three to seven members, to direct circulation throughout the state of petitions urging Hoover to enter the Ohio presidential preference primary race. It was indicated that this committee will be selected within a few days. These petitions, when signed, will be forwarded to Hoover, it was announced.

JEANE EAGLES TO ASK DIVORCE

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Jeanne Eagles, noted actress, today refused to confirm or deny reports that she is preparing a divorce action against her husband, Ted Coy, former Yale football star. Reports of the impending suit began circulating yesterday after Miss Eagles had conferred for the third time with her attorney, Benjamin Ehrlich. The actress and Coy were married in 1925 at the Stamford, Conn., home of Fay Bainter. The wedding occurred soon after Coy's first wife, the former Sophie D' Antiqua Meldrim, divorced him. $7.00 to $10.00 a ton, 50-60c half bushel basket. # 15-YEAR-OLD WELLSVILLE GIRL IS REPORTED MISSING

POLICE JOIN IN COMMAROTA SEARCH HERE

Youngster Disappears on Way to Court Room.

FAMILY PUZZLED

Relatives Give Letter From Ambridge to Authorities.

Aid of Wellsville police authorities today was enlisted in a search for Miss Edith Commarota, 15 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Commarota, 1219 Commerce street, from whom nothing has been heard by the family since yesterday noon at 1 o'clock.

Attired in a green dress, with flower design on the left shoulder, but wearing no hat, the girl left home shortly after the noon meal, on an errand for her mother.

She was to have stopped at the postoffice and then at the office of Justice John Riley. According to police she had never appeared at Riley's office and there was no means of ascertaining whether she had been at the postoffice.

Members of the family, who characterize the girl as of a retiring nature, are puzzled about her disappearance.

While a brother expresses fear of a kidnapping plot, authorities are inclined to doubt that supposition, inasmuch as the family asserts they have had no trouble with any one.

The girl, the family says, has had no beau, although they admit that an Ambridge man has been an ardent admirer. But, they say, the girl apparently had not encouraged his attentions.

A letter written two weeks ago by the Ambridge man to the girl, but intercepted by the family, was read today by the police.

The girl did not go to school, having been exempted from scholastic attendance by a physician's certificate.

Get Marriage License.

Marriage license was issued yesterday in probate court to Miss Bessie Willard, Yellow Creek township, and James Ketter, of Wellsville. The prospective bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willard.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT ENDORSES CREATORY CONTEST

STATE OF OHIO
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
COLUMBUS

J. L. CLIFTON
Director of Education
T. H. WINTERS
Assistant Director

February 3, 1928.

Mr. C. F. Howard
The Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.
Canton, Ohio.

Dear Mr. Howard:

We are very much pleased to see that the Brush-Moore Newspapers are promoting the national oratorical contest in our state. This is a most worthy effort and we hope that many schools and many students will respond to the opportunity. Principals, English teachers, and teachers of the subjects which touch the fields in which the subjects for orations are found should do their utmost to encourage students to undertake preparation and to do their best for themselves and their schools.

Very truly yours,
J. L. Clifton
Director of Education

Asserts Innocence In Plea For Parole

Moultrie Youth Shows Letter From Girl, Daughter of Ex-Wellsville Patrolman.

Claiming that he is innocent of a charge for which he was sentenced to the workhouse, John E. Brady, 23, formerly of Moultrie, has asked the Allegheny county criminal court, Pittsburgh, for a parole. The application will be heard Friday, February 17.

Brady's claim is based upon a letter written to Brady by Miss Clovis Castlebury, Pittsburgh, formerly of Alliance, in which the girl claims that her father, H. E. Castlebury, former Wellsville patrolman, forced her to accuse Brady of attacking her and to testify against him.

Information against Brady was made last September 19 and he was convicted and sentenced to serve a one to two-year term in the Allegheny workhouse. The letter, according to Attorney Joseph I. Winslow, Pittsburgh, counsel for Brady, was written by the Castlebury girl, who now resides at 19 East General Robinson street, Pittsburgh, December 6.

"Jack, I don't know whether I will ever live through it or not," the letter read in part according to the petition. "I go to bed early every night and read and cry myself to sleep. I only hope this will encourage you and be a good boy, for the better you are the sooner you will get out. It sure is a shame to think of an innocent man serving a sentence for a crime he didn't do."

PERSONALS

Mrs. M. R. Shingler, Main street, and Miss Jeanette Grafton, Maple avenue, are Columbus visitors.

Mrs. Everett Kessell is visiting in Columbus where a sister is a patient in White Cross hospital.

Harry Snyder, Twentieth street, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis in the East Liverpool City hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Krotzer, Whiteacre apartments, are visiting in Orlando, Florida.

Sentenced to Reformatory.
Booker T. Hogue, colored, of Coraopolis, Pa., indicted by the January grand jury for rape, and who was found guilty by a jury in common pleas court last Thursday, has been given a one to two-year sentence in the Mansfield reformatory by Judge W. F. Lones. Hogue was sent up from Wellsville.

PENNSY DAMAGE SUITS SETTLED

Two damage cases, totaling $26,000, filed several years ago by Ham Freeman, of Wellsville, against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, have been settled, and the court costs paid.

One case, seeking $20,000 damages, was filed Feb. 16, 1924, and another, seeking $6,000, was filed May 12, 1926. Freeman was injured while employed by the company at its Wellsville railroad shops.

LEO MANNING STRUCK BY CRANE

Leo Manning, 30, of Rochester, former Wellsville man, is a patient in the Rochester hospital as a result of injuries sustained Friday at the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Conway when he was struck by a crane.

Manning's right ear was torn off, his jaw bone fractured and his neck badly hurt.

NEW OFFICIALS' UNIT IS FORMED

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The central board, which has handled football officiating for twenty-two years, has been replaced by a new organization known as the Eastern Association for the Selection of Football Officials.

Walter R. Okeson of Lehigh, scolded dictator, was signed by representatives of twelve eastern colleges to handle the appointment of officials for five years. Membership in the new association is open to all colleges.

EXPECT ACTION ON PAVING JOB

Riverside Avenue Awaits City Council Plans.

Property owners of Riverside avenue were anticipating action by city council tonight on their petition for the improvement of the river front thoroughfare.

City council are meeting tonight for the first time in three weeks. At their last session, they received a petition from Riverside avenue residents asking that the street be paved. No action was taken pending an investigation into a number of details, chiefly concerning property ownership on the railroad side.

MRS. BURNETT IS HURT IN FALL

Mrs. Elizabeth Burnett, Tenth street, sustained a fractured wrist and bruises about her body yesterday when struck by a garage door at her home. J. F. Calhoun, a son-in-law, was preparing to drive his car from the garage when the door swung shut. Mrs. Burnett, nearly reached over to open the door. Caught, presumably, by a gust of wind, the door suddenly swung open and knocked Mrs. Burnett to the ground. Hearing her moaning, Calhoun rushed to her assistance. Dr. J. V. Rice dressed her injuries.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

DAVIS IS SENT TO MANSFIELD

Former Local Boy Sentenced on Robbery Count.

James Davis, former Wellsville boy, indicted by the Jefferson county grand jury on a charge of breaking and entering an office of the Ohio Clay Products Co., of H. E. Stratton at Port Homer and stealing cooking utensils and other articles there, was found guilty by a jury yesterday in Steubenville and sentenced by Judge J.

S. Paisley to the Mansfield reformatory.

Davis was indicted jointly with Jerry Smith, who pleaded guilty a week ago and was sentenced to the state penitentiary.

Davis was on parole from the reformatory where he had been serving a sentence on another charge.

Restful Ease After Coughing.

"The result of using Foley's Honey and Tar for a dreadful cough, daytime and at night, was a restful one for me," says Mrs. Anne Davison, Long Beach, Calif. The hard cough that follows bronchitis and "flu" is weakening and when it "hangs on" very debilitating. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound puts a healing, soothing coating on a rough, inflamed throat, and immediately eases the irritation that causes the hard coughs. Dependable. Ask for it. # High Passers Resume Series With Wellsville Teams Friday

500 Pasteboards, No More, Will Be Placed On Sale

Reserves in Action on Salem Floor Same Night; East Palestine Squads in Action Here Saturday Night.

Wellsville, Salem and East Palestine provide opposition for local high school basketball teams this week.

Joe Hurst's varsity passers will play the second game of the present campaign with Wellsville Friday night on the Wellsville court. The locals won in a hard fought encounter here a short time ago, and are expecting considerable opposition on the Orange court.

On the same night the Blue and White Reserves will clash with the Salem Reserves at Salem. The local lads easily defeated the Salemites in a previous game here this season and should repeat.

East Palestine teams will provide action here on Saturday night. Faculty Manager Robert Trumbull, Wellsville, today announced his ticket distribution plan for the Friday scuffle.

There will be 500 tickets sold—500 will be admitted to the game—no more, according to Trumbull. Of this 500, 145 will be reserved seats.

A section of seats and general admission tickets have been sent to Faculty Manager Decker here and from him local fans will have to make their ticket purchases. There will be none sold at the door, Trumbull says.

Wellsville ticket buyers can obtain their pasteboards from Trumbull.

Sunday School Second Half Card Planned

SPORT NEWS AND VIEWS

By the Sports Editor.

WHEN Bert Shotton, old O. & P. league star, takes charge of the Phillies this summer, he will be Cy Williams' fourteenth manager.

Cy has worked for more big league pilots than any other man in the past. He started under the late Frank Chance of the Cubs 15 years ago after matriculating at Notre Dame. In 1913 Johnny Evers was his boss and the next year played under Hank O'Day, who threw away his umpire's regalia for a time to manage the Cubs.

Roger Bresnahan, one-time battery mate of Mathewson and McGinnity, was his boss in 1915, and in 1916 he worked under the famous Joe Tinker. The next season Fred Mitchell was his manager.

In 1917 he went to the Phillies in a trade. His first Quakertown chief was the late Pat Moran and since that time has played under six Philadelphia chieftains, Jack Coombs, Gravy Cravath, Bill Donovan, Irwin Wilhelm, Art Fletcher and Stuffy McInnis.

The veteran campaigner, now 39, has seen boom and go, but still plays on no matter who is at the helm. Trying to get the Phils out of the depths is not a popular task, but the former McKeesport and Steubenville performer takes the difficult job with a determination to accomplish results.

Old timers around these parts who know Shotton would like to see him succeed where the others have failed.

HERMAN LAYNE, former Newell potter, has been sold by the Pittsburgh club of the National Association to Indianapolis of the American Association. The sale was outright.

Layne's East Liverpool friends who were rooting for the one-time dishwasher to make good on the big time, will have to be content to read about his activities in the association circuit until such time as some major league organization sees in him the qualifications they need to fill a vacant berth somewhere.

Lane is an outfielder, but it would take some one of a Babe Ruthian caliber to land an outfield job with the Pirates now.

Layne was a big star for the Toronto Internationals before the Bucs bought him in 1925. He was with the Pittsburgh club on its spring training trip and then went to Indianapolis.

IF the four-way tie in which the Y. M. C. A. Senior league finished the first half of the season had occurred within the ranks of any circuit in which the players were compensated, what a howl would have gone up!

Because of the tie the four teams of the league are playing off an extra three-game elimination series. Two were staged last night and the final will be played Thursday.

Attention of fans is called to the situation because all too often some individuals are prone to look at sports in another light. They wink knowingly when the major leagues play seven games out of a seven-game series (although they didn't have a chance to do that last year) and become more or less indignant if a similar situation prevails in local baseball or basketball where there is a fee taken at the gate.

There's no "gate" at these "Y" games. The game is the thing there. And yet they're playing off an extra series. Which goes to show that such a situation is always possible.

thy, Boston heavyweight, drew with Benny Ross, Buffalo (10).

Pete Petrolle, Fargo, N. D., drew with Luke Carr, Buffalo (6).

AT WILLIAMSPORT, Pa.:—Tiger Thomas, negro middleweight of Williamsport, defeated Rocky Smith, Battle Creek, Mich. (10).

Whitely Leubach, Williamsport, won decision over Irish Johnny Curtin, Lebanon, Pa. (8).

HARNESS MEET IN CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Harness horse "fans" from every city in Ohio which has an interest in the sport, were expected to gather here today to prepare for the 1928 racing season.

The Ohio short ship circuit was scheduled to hold a business session at 2:30 this afternoon, and the annual banquet of the Buckeye Horsemen's association is to be held tonight. The tentative program calls for short speeches by City Manager William A. Hopkins of Cleveland; Roy Colwell of Mansfield, president of the short ship circuit; "Win" Kinnon, former manager of North Randall, and several officials of the Harness Horse association.

Cities listed in the tentative schedule for this year's racing include Columbus, Marion, Mansfield, Sandusky, Newark, Norwalk, Urbana and Elyria.

Ruth Is Ready To Go To Work; Faces Job In Reducing Girth

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Fiscal and physical reports were submitted by the board of estimate of Mr. B. Ruth, Inc., today, which is one of the most important Tuesdays this week. It may be only the seventh of the month to a lot of people who were born on the sixth and the eighth and weren't named B. Ruth in the first place, but this is the former's loss in home runs to the number of sixty and in dollars to the number of 100,000 each year.

It, therefore, is worthy of attention that fiscal reports on this, his thirty-fourth birthday, show Mr. B. Ruth to be approximately $120,000 "out of the red," a vulgar term indigenous to the pattern of bank examiners and other opponents of personal liberty, for the benefit of the purists, it may be explained that this means Mr. B. Ruth is that much off the nut.

The physical report, as rendered by Prof. A. A. McGovern, also proved somewhat bullish. It seems that the young man has determined to turn over another new leaf. He has turned over slightly more of these than the average city employee who goes around public parks with a burlap bag and a pointed stick but this time, of course, he means it. No more for him a life of ease and refinement; not again will he swerve from the spartan ritual of self-denial.

Starting tomorrow, Mr. B. Ruth avers that he will work out with the professor every day until he leaves for his training camp on Feb. 23. This, of course, is going a bit too far.

Ruth Ready to "Cram."

What he means is that he will work out with the professor present. The sight of other men working is the professor's reward for a life spent among medicine balls and dumbbells. A lot of the latter can't be hung on the wall, either.

Anyhow, the boy friend, having ignored his paunch through an entire winter, is now ready to "cram" for his examinations. He probably will need plenty of good, old fashioned, obnoxious work at the age of 34 and, unless I have the professor mixed up with two other fellows, he probably will get it.

The fact that he can show a profit of $120,000 for all the years he has been in baseball seems to have cheered Christy Walsh, chairman of the fiscal Ruth, beyond all reason. Considering the fact that Ruth has most of his expenses paid, merely has to sit in an automobile to have it presented to him by the grateful company, never pays a hotel bill, winter or summer, and does nothing for which he is not remunerated immediately, it is no shock to the writer that he can save $70,000 in ten months.

The remaining $50,000 of the great man's fortune is represented in an annuity policy with a life insurance company. The $70,000, which is the start of what is intended to be a quarter of a million dollar trust fund, therefore represents about all of the actual cash Ruth has been able to salvage out of a career that, to date, has netted him as much as $400,000 from baseball alone.

The man apparently had run through more than a half million before he knew he could use it.

Y Swim Team Set For Meet With Stubbers

Down River Match First for Local Splashes This Season.

T. E. Scheffer, "Y" physical director, is rapidly whipping his squad into shape for the dual swimming meet with youngsters of the Steubenville "Y" on Saturday at Steubenville. The water joust will be the first of a pair between the two institutions, a return match being billed here in March.

The Stubbers have taken part in several meets this season. While it will be the first for the locals they expect to make a good showing.

The following boys compose the team:

Kermit Stevenson, Robert Hall, Richard Stewart, Joseph Chetwin, James Bowen, Samuel Brown, Robert Dietz, Franklin Edwards, Delbert Evans, Gale Davis, Donald Eckert and Kenneth Salsberry.

Stevenson and Eckert will be entered in the 25 yard back stroke swim; Dietz, Salsberry and Stewart in the 25 yard breast stroke; Evans and Stewart in fancy diving; Hall, Brown and Salsberry, plunge for distance; Bowen, Edwards, Davis, Brown and Chetwin, relay race, 25-yard and 50-yard dashes.

YALE TO RETAIN JONES' METHODS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 7.—Although T. A. D. ("Tad") Jones will not coach the Yale football team next season, the methods which he inaugurated will be retained. This was assured by the appointment of Jones last night as chairman of the graduate advisory committee on football for 1928.

The coach for 1928 will be picked by the committee, and indications today were that the new mentor will be a member of the present coaching staff. Marvin Stevens, '25, and Charlie Comerford, '18, were mentioned freely today as outstanding candidates for the post. Both formerly starred for Yale on the gridiron.

SEKYRA MAY GET LOMSKI MATCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Joe Sekyra, Dayton, Ohio light heavyweight, probably will be matched with Leo Lomski in the 25-round knock-out contest over George Gomas, veteran trial horse from Philadelphia. After absorbing considerable punishment, Gomas was felled by a left hook and a straight right to the ribs.

Only One Fight For Gene This Year If Jack's Done

Champion is Signed for Single Battle Thus Far, and That With Winner of Rickard's Elimination Tourney.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Gene Tunney wants to defend his title twice this year but he may fight only once because he thinks that Jack Dempsey is through and will not be available for a bout this fall.

Ring Commission Orders Probe Into Gotham Glove Rash

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The latest thing in boxing casualties is the "glove rash" which has broken out recently at Madison Square Garden in the form of cuts, bruises and odd wounds from blows that ordinarily do not leave a mark.

As a result of the gory battle between Mike McTigue and Leo Lomski last Friday night, the boxing commission has ordered an investigation to determine the cause.

Manufacturers of gloves used at the garden have been asked to submit samples of old and new leather with a view of determining whether a rough surface is responsible for flesh lacerations that might be avoided by the use of softer material in the glove casings.

Hall Resigns As Coach Of Midland Team

No Successor Named by Collegian Quint.

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 7.—At a conference last night of players with Coach W. H. Hall, Manager Lawrence White and others connected with the Midland Collegians, Hall tendered his resignation as mentor of the Steel City quint.

According to White, no regular coach will be appointed to fill Hall's place.

Game previously scheduled and later cancelled with a New Castle five for Thursday night will be replaced with another booking, White said.

Meeting resulted from a series of decisive defeats suffered by the Steel City passers.

THINKS DEMPSEY REPORTS BUNK

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Leo Flynn, who trained Jack Dempsey for his last two bouts, is among the vast majority Scott, New York, kayoed Rubber who refuse to accept Jack Dempsey's Rummy, Fall River, Mass. (4).

The heavyweight champion, outlining his ring plans today, said he was convinced that Dempsey has quit the squared circle for all time.

"Right now I am signed for only one bout this year," said Gere.

"It will be in June, against the winner of the elimination tournament between Sharkey, Risko, Delaney and Heeney.

"I want two bouts, but it may be that no understanding opponent will be available for a second match."

Tunney is back in his home town for a ten-day visit. The champion was visibly depressed. Far from that dear Miami shore, with its golf and swimming, he must go into a huddle with the income tax collector concerning his tax return for 1927. Since he earned a cool million in the Dempsey bout at Chicago alone last year, the Tunney bankroll is due to absorb considerable punishment.

Gene revealed that Promoter Tex Rickard offered Dempsey "a huge purse" for a title bout next September.

"When Jack turned down that offer, I knew he was through," continued the champ. "I believe that his eyes are troubling him and that he will not risk a further injury to them. Once I had eye trouble for months, myself."

After a learned discussion of muscular ailments in the optic regions, Tunney declared that he is now in perfect condition. He said he weighs only 193 pounds. Against Dempsey in Chicago he weighed 189 1/2.

The champion declared he had no intention of defending his title in Chicago under the promotion of Jim Mul-len.

Gene expressed the opinion that the list of challengers for his crown was limited to Sharkey, Heeney, Delaney and Risko.

"Paulino has been beaten three times in New York," he said. "George Godfrey's knockouts against set-ups mean nothing. He has lost many decisions in many towns."

Tunney emphasized that he is in perfect agreement with the plans of Tex Rickard.

"When you fight for Rickard you are sure of getting your money," he concluded.

retirement as official. Flynn said today he expects to hear from Dempsey within a few days and he also expects to handle the Old Manassa man mauler for another Tunney fight next fall.

C. & P. And Kidd Fives Play Final

Win First Games in 'Y' League Elimination.

Nickel Plate and C. & P. fives of the Y. M. C. A. Senior basketball league will fight it out Thursday night on the "Y" floor for the first half championship as a result of victories in the opening games of the elimination tournament.

The C. & P. won by a forfeit from the B. & O., and the Nickel Plates turned back the P. & L. E., 19 to 16, in a hard fought battle. As a result of illness and the absence of one player, but of town, Manager Bette idea of the B. & O. combine was unable to muster a full squad.

The P. & L. E. Nickel Plate engagement was a scrap all the way. The point at the end of the opening period gave each equal four points. In the second the P. & L. E. forced ahead and were leading the opposition with a count of 9 to 7 at the half.

The Nickel Plates came back strong in the third and before the intermission was called had overtaken the P. & L. E. and, in addition, hung up a two-point margin.

Caplan sank a long range shot and later contributed a foul to put the P. & L. E. quint in the lead in the first few minutes of the closing period but field goals by Cooper and Kidd turned the tide in the opposite direction and the race brought up with the Plates in front by three points.

McGraw, Kidd and Cooper were the leading performers for the Plates. Cooper's four field goals and brace of fouls giving him high point honors. Caplan, Kittredge and Zacharias were the P. & L. E. mainstays.

In an exhibition encounter, the B. & O., defeated the C. & P., 19 to 18. Earl Reese filled in the vacancy on the B. & O. five.

Columbiana Is Chosen For Class B Games

County Cage Squads to Compete on Feb. 24-25.

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 7.—The class B. Columbiana county basketball tournament will be held in Columbiana again this year.

The dates are February 24 and 25. All of the county high schools not rated as Class A, with the exception of Lisbon and East Palestine, will be entered in the local tournament, the winner being eligible to compete in the district tournament at Youngstown.

By reason of their larger enrollment, Lisbon and East Palestine may go direct to Youngstown without competing here.

Ambulance calls in London have increased from 2,405 to 39,455 a year in the past 12 years.

BOWLING

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 7.—Standings in the Crucible duck pin league remain unchanged, with Engineers leading the league. Police and Accounting fives hold second and third positions in the circuit.

Although he retains high average score, Superstein's average again dropped one point to 138. Munroe's 228 continues to rate as high individual score. The 1984 rolled by Accounting bowlers early in the pin season remains unthreatened today.

Standings today are:

CHICAGO QUINT SWATS BUCKEYES

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The downtrodden University of Chicago basketball team rose up in righteous wrath and swatted Ohio State, 27 to 24, in a Big Ten championship tilt here last night.

While all this was going on, Minnesota, another downtrodden member, was over at Iowa City, having no such luck. Iowa won, 30 to 21. These two games were the only "simon pure" conference tilts enacted last evening.

The Ohio-Chicago game was particularly hard-fought. The Buckeyes were trying for a comeback, having lost a previous game this season to the Maroons, 25 to 21.

The "Gopher-Hawks" affair likewise was a repeater, Iowa raining vengeance for a beating administered by the Gopher horde last month.

PITT HANGS UP ELEVENTH WIN

HAMILTON, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Pittsburgh's undefeated basketball team, hailed as the greatest in the country, continues to bowl over all opposition. The Panthers registered their eleventh straight victory in defeating Colgate here last night, 48 to 37.

Elks Ready To Defeat Lisbon five

Pile up Winning Points in Closing Period.

AFTER two bad starts against Sallenville and Wellsville in their second half getaway, the East Liverpool Elks last night recovered the form that marked their rise to the first half championship and trimmed the Lisbon league five, 38 to 22, at the Rollaway.

For almost three full quarters of the contest the Lisbon passers gave the Antlers a battle, with the result still far from decided as the third intermission was reached.

The Elks got off to a three point lead in the opening period when the count stood 6 to 3, but boasted only a two-point advantage at the half when the tally was 10 to 8.

The Elks began to "fit their winning stride" again toward the close of the third stanza. They scored 12 points during the period while the county seaters were getting right.

Then the first half champs began to rain the ball off the hoys and as the final whistle was blown they had collected 16 points, while Guards McConville and Anderson stood the Lisbon scorers off for six points.

Every man on the Antler squad broke into the scoring, Pusey Wilson and Canine leading the parade with eight points apiece. McKeever replaced Wilson in the third period and collected a pair of buckets, but Wilson came back later when Canine was shoofed off the floor on personal fouls. Anderson came up the floor for three two-pointers and McConville two.

Bill "um led the Lisbon scoring with three field goals and two fouls.

In the preliminary the Sigma Del-tas of East Liverpool lost to the Lisbon Fords, 38 to 22. Rush, Bethany lad, a substitute, aided the Fords considerably in the final period. Menge starred in the scoring line with a total of 15 points.

HEALTH HINTS For Parents

The wise mother gives little heed to "diets" for her growing boy or girl, and worries not at all about their bowels. A little fig syrup gives all the help, and has none of the harm that's found in habit-forming laxatives.

Have you a boy or girl whose food doesn't seem to nourish as it should? Let them eat the same things, and just treat them to a daily spoonful of this rich, fruity syrup; watch them gain weight, see how their cheeks fill out and how appetite and assimilation improve! And a few drops will do remarkable things for an alling infant. California Fig Syrup is a purely vegetable product, so parents need have no hesitancy in giving it to infants.

California Fig Syrup is not expensive; all dealers charge but sixty cents for a generous bottle. Just make certain that it is the California product; say "California" in asking for it. Try California Fig Syrup two weeks; appearance and actions tell the full story!

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25 cents and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

BROADWAY

A Thrilling Story of the Night Clubs
By Phillip Dunning and George Abbott.

"They was two of you," said Lil, dryly.
Porky was confused, and stuttered like a fat school boy. "I mean—you know, extra loud—and yelling too—I yelled bravo, bravo."
Lil did not raise her voice. "Was that you yelled? I'd known that, I'd done an encore."
Porky was pleased and more confident. "I hadn't been in to see Nick since you joined the troupe. Steve, that is, Mr. Crandall—my business associate—he's in here a lot—and I thought your stuff was extremely good."
Lil knew the "old line," but she always listened to it, still hopeful. "Well, I certainly am flattered, Mr. Thompson," she said, without enthusiasm.
Porky searched about in his limited brain for a topic of conversation. "Very interesting, the life back stage," he commented, looking about the room as though he had never seen it before.
Lil, having rearranged all her props, started back upstairs. "All depends on how you look at it," she said. "Of course, it's nicer here than in a regular theatre cause here there's nobody can drop scenery on you—all we got to dodge is the stuff out front." She smiled at Porky over the railing.
"Well, I'm going to be out in front looking at you," Porky returned.
"Don't look at me—just listen to me," the prima-donna instructed. "I guess when that squab scenery comes out, you won't pay much attention to the old timers."
Porky strolled closer to the stairs, looking up like a comedy Romeo. "Whadda you mean, old timers? I'm an old timer myself—me. I'm allus strong for the guy that's been somewhere and seen something."
Lil resumed her climbing. "That takes me in," she flung back over her shoulder. "I've seen a lot."

CHAPTER 22.

Dolph darted in from the hall, glancing about the room with the eyes of a ferret. His hat was still on the back of his head.
"There's your boy friend," informed Lil.
Porky looked at Dolph who was headed for Nick's office; then called up to Lil. "Well, Miss Rice, I'd like to see some more of you, sometime."
"Stick around!" she retorted as her spangles flipped saucily out of sight.
Porky, grinning, hands dug deeply in his pockets, crossed to Dolph who had stuck his head into the office and had asked Steve to come out. "Hey, listen, Dolph," began Porky, "there's a gal I could fall for. No skinny-legged, flat-sided baby gipsies like you guys pick—No, I like a dame that can sit in a Morris chair and fill it."
Dolph cut him short. "Say, Porky, you know Dan McCormick?" he asked through the side of his mouth.
Porky did. Dan McCormick was well known on the homicide squad, a dangerous bull because he was square. "I speak to him," he chuckled. "I ain't never been arrested by him."
"Cut the comedy," said Dolph. "He's out there. Keep an eye on him for a second, till I come back, will you?"
Porky, impressed and curious, said he would and went down the hall, as Steve came out from the private office, leaving Nick smoking a cigar at his desk.
Dolph spoke directly in his ear. "There's a bull out there!"
Steve glanced at him, unimpressed. "What of it?"
"Maybe—maybe there's something up," conjectured Dolph, trying to straighten his hat.
"Go home and go to bed," ordered Steve, contemptuously, taking out his cigarette case.
Dolph looked over his shoulder at the swinging doors on which the bright lights of the cabaret were playing and then looked back at Steve. "There might be," he said.
"Do you know him?" Steve inquired, snapping his cigarette case closed.
"Sure," Dolph came nearer, watching Steve closely. "It's Dan McCormick."
The cigarette panned on its way to Steve's mouth. He looked with a flicker of interest at Dolph. That wasn't so good. McCormick was of the homicide squad—a square dick. Steve Crandall had respect for his ability. What was he doing here? He didn't hang around places like the Paradise for nothing. Could that Westcott express driver have found Scar's body already? Maybe he had looked in the back of the truck before driving away.
"What's he doing?" Steve asked.
"Sitting there reading a newspaper." Little Dolph was not reassured by Steve's manner. He felt that Steve was frightened too.
There was a rattle of loose change behind them, and Joe entered on his indifferent way to Nick's office. Steve caught him by the arm. "Joe," he said, "run upstairs and ask Miss Moore—Billie Moore—to step down here."
"Sure, Mr. Crandall—" and Joe loped up the stairs to the dressing-rooms. As he disappeared, Steve said to Dolph who was walking up and down. "You better go out and cool off." And as Dolph protested weakly, "Go on now—Keep out of sight for a while."
He was interrupted by the reappearance of Joe, calling down from the top stair. "She ain't changed yet."
"Tell her it's important," Steve returned, and Joe's curly black head bobbed out of sight.
Dolph stepped up to Steve. "Listen, you better fix the hoover, too."
Impatiently, Steve growled at him. "Keep away from him or you'll get me in trouble. I know how to handle this."
But Dolph was far from satisfied. "Listen, Steve," he said, "you still got that rod on you—let me get rid of it."
Steve took him by the wrist, viciously. "For God's sake, don't have a panic. Who do you think I am, Johnnie the Dove? Should I have my pockets sewed up or something because there's a bull in the next room?"
The rattle of loose change warned them of Joe's return. "Beat it," commanded Steve. Dolph hurried down the hall toward the bar.
Billie followed Joe down the stairs, two at a time. Her curls were tumbling into her eyes. "I haven't quite dressed yet," she explained.
Steve, after seeing that Joe had left them, crossed to her, leslurely. "I won't keep you a minute. Just a little something I want to ask you—" He stood close to her as she fumbled with the back of her dress. "Listen, cute fella, I want to ask you a favor."
Billie looked into his eyes. "Why, Mr. Crandall, of course—"
"Isn't so much," he said. "I want you to forget you saw Dolph and me helping that drunken fellow out of here, a while ago."
Billie's white brow wrinkled. "That drunken fellow?"—then as the light of remembrance dawned—"Oh, I know—out there—I remember."
Steve smiled. "Well, I want you to be a good kid and promise to forget to remember—" And as she agreed. "You see, he's a big politician; if it got out it might cause a lot of trouble—just thought I'd warn you so that—you know—if you happened to talk you might get yourself in a bad jam."
"Oh, I wouldn't say anything," Billie reassured him, tying on her flaring wristbands.
Crandall didn't trust women, even innocent ones like this. He had been double-crossed too often. He thought he'd pinch this right now. "Oh, by the way," he said, "here's something else I just happened to think of." He took out the white silk handkerchief and held it before her. "Guess what?"
Billie flushed. "Why, Mr. Crandall—how should I know?"
"Birthday present for you," said Steve, placing the silk in her little hand.
"But, Mr. Crandall, I had my birthday," stammered Billie.
"Be smart and have two of them," Steve coaxed. Slowly, Billie peeked into the handkerchief, and saw the glittering thing of dreams inside. Her eyes opened round as dollars. "Oh, Steve," she gasped—"Oh, I never saw anything—but I couldn't take it."

Mrs. Ruth Canaday, Seventh street, was a recent East Liverpool visitor. Miss Jean Crichton, Beaver avenue, was a guest at the birthday party of Miss Marcella Goghlan, Beaver, Saturday.

Mrs. Albert Wuschinski, Beaver avenue, had been called to Harrisburg by the death of a relative.

Mrs. Daniel Blue and Miss Mabel Boyd, of Beaver, were recent guests here.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to all the relatives, friends and neighbors who in any way assisted us during the recent sickness of our two children Regia and Bonnie and the death of our dear son, brother, and grandson, Regis.

We especially thank Rev. Father Sauer, the Sisters of Divine Providence and Humility of Mary. The pupils of the Sacred Heart School, Doctors Lewis, Hobbs and Miskall, G. A. Arner and employees, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dehner, Mrs. Frank Switzer and Mrs. David Dewar. The employees of Hall China No. 1 and Homer Laughlin Decorating Shop No. 5, and all who donated cars and floral offerings. MR. & MRS. WALTER A. WEHNER AND FAMILY.
MR. & MRS. M. J. CARRAHER & FAMILY.
MR. & MRS. JOSEPH WEHNER & FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our beloved son Dale Edwin, who departed from this life one year today.

Dear little hands I miss them so. All through the day wherever I go. All through the night how lonely it seems.

For no little hands wake me out of my dreams. I miss them all through the weary hours.

I miss them as others do sunshine and flowers. Day time or night wherever I go. Dear little hands I miss them so.

Sadly missed by his parents, Bros. and sisters.
MR. & MRS. RALPH COOKE & CHILDREN.

"Lumber jack" coats, which have been so popular in this country, are to be introduced into Austria.

Do you take cold easily?

Your mucous membranes are sensitive. Cold germs weaken them. And when you have chronic colds you slip into a catarrhal condition without knowing it.

Don't let colds "hang on." You can quickly relieve the inflammation of the delicate linings of throat and nose, throw off congestion and stored-up impurities with Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Its tonic effect aids Nature in restoring a healthy condition, drives away catarrh and helps you go thru the winter without colds. Ask your druggist. Price 85c.

EAST END

WOMAN CONDUCTS BOYCE REVIVAL

Large crowds are attending revival meetings this week in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, where Miss Janie Bradford of Washington, Pa., is preaching. Special music is being featured.

Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, pastor of the church, today announced that services would be held every night until February 19.

"MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS" SERMON

Evangelist L. S. Hoover, of Tionesta, Pa., who is conducting meetings in the Oakland Free Methodist church, last month spoke on "Mind Your Own Business." At the close of the services several came forward.

Meetings will be held at 7:30 o'clock every evening during the week.

Odd Fellows To Meet.
Members of Pennova lodge No. 880, I. O. O. F., will meet Thursday night in the Odd Fellows' temple, Mulberry street. Routine business will be transacted.

Potters in Minstrel Cast.
Number of employees of the East End plants of the Homer Laughlin China company are members of the cast that will present a minstrel show in the Carnegie theatre on February 20.

Card Party Arranged.
Plans have been arranged for a euchre, bridge and 500 party to be held tomorrow night by the East End Catholic club in their club rooms, Pennsylvania avenue and Palissy street. Trophies will be awarded the winners.

Boy Scouts To Meet.
Members of the Boy Scout troop of the Second Christian church will meet Friday night in the church. The organization, which was recently formed, is steadily growing in membership.

Annoying Night Coughs

Stopped Almost Instantly

Very frequently adults and children, especially children, have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritations or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the health.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine, much better than patent medicines and cough syrups, acts on a different principle, relieves the irritation and stops the cough within 15 minutes or money back. Contains no chloroform, dope or other harmful drugs. Pleasant tasting and safe. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Ask for Thoxine. At all druggists.

Lesson No. 2

Question: Why do underweight children need and realize so much benefit from emulsified cod-liver oil?

Answer: Because it provides a vitamin-rich food that nourishes efficiently and helps thin children put on weight. It's known world-wide as
